MESSAGE

As many of you might be aware that I started my career as a teacher. After my stint as a teacher for more than 15 years I sincerely realised that being a teacher is a great blessing bestowed on us by the Almighty. Yes, not everyone becomes a teacher.

The teachers' role in this age of great leaps in technology like Virtual Reality and Artificial Intelligence to which appears future belongs, the very existence of being a teacher is going to face very tough challenge. The relevance of teacher will go under severe scrutiny, since technology has all the potential to replace conventional class room setting with virtual class rooms and pre-programmed bots which will transact the learning modules of the curriculum in the class room or wherever they are and at any time of the day.

In such a scenario it will a big deal to find our place as teachers unless and otherwise we engage our attention to those intrinsic human element that cannot be simulated by any of the machines of present and future.

Bonding with our learners will be the only way out and that magic cannot simply happen if children do not feel you are worth bonding. Being caring, compassionate, trustworthy and empathetic are all the more imperative so that the child perceives you as a Guide and Guru" who walks the talk" - not just "Ma'am/Sir".

Kindly ponder over the above which I shared on this great day. Hope this will help you to find your real moorings

Happy teacher's day
